Rates for Recording and Editing Services Effective April 1, 2017

We are asked how much our services cost on a regular basis.
But every project is different...

All of our projects are custom in nature, but these are our standard rates. Please note that these rates may vary based upon your project and are only provided as a guideline. Our policy is that our customers have the right to negotiate pricing, as well as the other terms, before they sign the contract.

Note: All hourly rates are billed by the minute (e.g. 8 minutes @ $80.00 per hour = $13.33).

Note 2: Not every fee is required – you can build a package to fit your needs!

Video Acquisition, Transcoding, Master Video File Creation, Movie Compression, and Video DVD / Video Blu-Ray Disc Building/Mastering²	N/A	$15.00 per hour Up to 1 hour acquisition and transcoding included Student Pricing: $12.00 per hour

² Video acquisition is the process of transferring the RAW footage from flash storage cards used by the camera to the computer for editing purposes. After this completes, all footage must be transcoded to a higher quality file format appropriate for Video Editing. Once the project is completed, the computer must render a Master Video File. Movie Compression is necessary due to file size limitations on DVDs and Blu-Ray Discs, and to make Video file uploads practicable. All movies are compressed with H.264, unless otherwise notified. The length of time necessary to complete compression depends upon the length of the finished Video. Video DVD / Video Blu-Ray Disc Building and Mastering is the process of setting up the Video DVD or Video Blu-Ray Disc for playback on a standard Video DVD or Video Blu-Ray Disc player and the process of burning the first disc. A "Video Blu-Ray Disc" shall mean a Blu-Ray Disc capable of playback via a standard standalone Video Blu-Ray Disc player.
